

Classroom Climate Evaluation

Please record whether you agree with the statements below and add any comments you would like to share.

In this class,

I perceive a climate of justice.

There is explicit recognition of achievements.

Positive assessment predominates.

There is tolerance for errors.

I feel that I am someone valuable.

I have a sense of belonging.

I know the rules and the consequences of not following them.

There is flexibility in the rules.

Students feel respected in their dignity, in their individuality, in their difference.

Relevant information is accessible and readily available.

Our work promotes personal growth and creativity.

We confront conflicts constructively.

This evaluation is based on work by Rosario Porrás-Aguilar, University of North Carolina-Charlotte.
